RFD – Negotiation for Land Sale

CAO Muise advised council that the airport Board has received an interest from a third party who has a considerable plan of action regarding potential surplus land at the airport. The party has sent along concepts that highlights their preliminary plan. This potential buyer is a legitimate organization, with the means to execute their plan, but require guidance from the ownership group. The concept was shared with board members in an in-camera meeting, and therefore not included in this public session. The potential buyer would like to understand whether there is an interest at the ownership level to enter negotiations, hopeful that the result would be a sale of property.

Councls are being asked to authorize the Airport Corporation to enter negotiations with this party, and that these negotiations would be supported by appropriate legal and other expertise to support staff in their representation. Time may be of the essence in this potential agreement.

Without disclosing the specifics of the plan, both residential property and commercial property development are being contemplated. Commercial development would result in property tax revenues and depending on the development, these revenues could be considerable.

In order to be successful in the actual sale of land, many elements have to be ironed out, including but not limited to the closure of a runway to enable the alternate land use, discussion internally about how the new property tax revenue gets applied, changes required in land zoning, understanding the buyers plan for land use, determination of land value etc. CAO Muise advised that he would certainly support the motion the airport crafted (below) as we will require support to be successful.

It is moved by Glenn Digdgon and seconded by Danny Muise to direct the Airport Corporation to enter into negotiations for all or part of the airport lands to arrive at terms and conditions satisfying to the owners, and further, that the Airport Board engage the expertise to support and carry out the negotiations.
